
Doug's Corner

We have returned from Pine Springs. I know we had a great week. Thanks to all those that helped with camp, whether helping with transportation or working for the week.

There is a sign up sheet on the youth bulletin board for those that would like to go to the Teenage Christian Conference in Denver City on Saturday, August 6th. The plan will be to leave here at around 8:30 that morning and return late that evening. You will only need money for lunch on the way to Denver City. Today is the last day to sign up, so that we can send in how many will be coming.

This week for our Timothy and Tabitha classes, we will have the boys in room 16 and the girls will be in the fellowship hall.

Next month's Catalyst will be on Friday, August 12th at 6pm. Come join us! We will have a Back To School Prayer Breakfast on Saturday, August 13th at 9 am.

Carl's Dye-a-logue

When a person moves to Texas from another state, there are several layers of "red tape" that must be cut and cut in the proper order. Despite having moved to Texas from Arkansas once before, we still were not sure what we were/are supposed to do first. As it turns out, the first thing needed is car insurance. No problem as all we had to do is call an agent of the company we had car insurance with and he was happy to transfer our policy to Texas.

Next, a state car inspection is required (and the car must pass the inspection). Just before our trip to San Antonio, Monica had taken our van to have the oil changed. The place she took the van asked about inspecting the van, but Monica did not have the new insurance card.

Most places, when you go to get the oil changed, will do a courtesy safety check of things like, say the tires. If the tires look to be going bad, they will tell you so that you do not, make a 1,015+ mile trip on bad tires. This place did not tell us anything.

Monday, Monica took the van for its inspection and it failed because the front two tires were bald. Tires for a minivan, even the cheapest, are not very cheap. However, we have no choice in the matter, so we had to bite the bullet and buy two new tires.

If something is wrong with our cars, we appreciate someone telling us about it . . . especially if it is a matter of safety. The van tires had close to no tread left. Our trip could have been catastrophic: a matter of life and death (fortunately we feel God was taking care of us).

If something is wrong with our faith, do we appreciate someone telling us about it . . . especially if it is a matter of eternal safety? Do you have friends that are spiritually traveling on "bald tires"? Do you want to see their eternity be catastrophic? Take the opportunity to warn them: before it is too late!
